Step 1: Brainstorm

Talk about different scenes and characters you could have in them.

Step 2: Develop Characters and Plot

Make characters so that everyone in your group has something to do. Think about what will happen at the start, in the middle, and at the end of your story. Usually, a scene has a problem to fix or a character that changes.

Step 3: Write the Script

When you write what characters say, put the character's name at the start of the line before their words. Each time a new character talks, start a new line with their name and then write what they say.
